COEXIST?

Confessing Christ in a Contrary Culture

Evangelism conference slated for Sept. 9–10

Learn to share your faith with others in an easy and natural way

Evangelism can be a scary thing for many Christians. What should you say? When should you talk about your faith in Christ? How do you gain permission to share your faith with others?

If you've ever asked questions like these, be sure to attend the upcoming LCMS Evangelism Conference, to be held Sept. 9-10 at Our Shepherd Lutheran Church, Avon. You'll find the answers to these questions — and so much more!

At the conference, expert evangelists will share with you their thoughts on gaining a relationship with others so you may confess Christ in a natural way. Learn and gain confidence from their expertise. Soon, you'll be sharing your faith with friends, relatives, associates and neighbors with ease.

To view all the sectionals offered and registration information, visit the Indiana District website at in.lcms.org and search on Evangelism Conference.

Raising up leaders, re-inspiring each other

Best Practices for Ministry-Heartland conference offers inspiration and encouragement for all

Whether you're an LCMS pastor, a church worker or a layperson, we know you love the church and want to do all you can to seek and save the lost for our Lord. The Best Practices for Ministry-Heartland conference this fall wants to re:inspire you as you live out that calling!

This conference will be held Oct. 5-7 at Cornerstone Lutheran Church, Carmel. (Cornerstone is formerly Carmel Lutheran Church — new name, same church!) It begins at 1:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Oct. 5, and concludes at 1:30 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 7. A wonderful event is being planned, including great food, interesting sessions, engaging speakers, opportunities for networking and some not-so-serious fun!

All that and it's an easy drive!

Based on the wonderful success of the Best Practices for Ministry Conference held at Christ Church Lutheran, Phoenix, every February, Best Practices for Ministry-Heartland makes this great training available to even more people at a price you can't refuse: free! No one is paid for presenting or speaking, and the only costs for all attendees are travel and lodging.

So come learn, be encouraged, share with one another and be re:inspired to remember your first love! (Did we mention that it's free?!)

Cornerstone Lutheran Church is proud to partner with Trinity, Lisle, Ill., and St. Peter's, Columbus, to present this conference.

LWML convention uplifts spirits, furthers mission

The 26th biennial convention of the LWML Indiana District, held June 24-26 at the Bloomington-Monroe County Convention Center in Bloomington, was a huge success. More than 370 people from 21 zones in Indiana and Kentucky gathered together under the theme “Who’s Your Lord?”

The convention mission statement, “To Know Christ and Make Him Known,” guided the speakers, who challenged and uplifted the attendees. Speakers included Gary Thies, director of Mission Central in Mapleton, Iowa; Nancy Bogenhagen of South Dakota, national LWML vice-president of Communication and the Rev. Daniel May, president of the LCMS Indiana District.

The delegates selected 17 mission projects to receive grants in the amount of $133,000, and elected officers for the next biennium. Convention offerings of more than $10,000 will help district mission grants, the district Scholarship Fund, Mission Central and Chinese Ministry Resources in Bloomington.

Also, an ingathering was collected for Orphan Grain Train, Community Provisions and Pregnancy Care Center. Servant events for numerous organizations were also held. Finally, attendees enjoyed entertainment provided by The Weaver

Investing in education

By Rev. Daniel J. Lepley
Senior pastor, Our Shepherd, Avon

Many pastors struggle to find time for continuing education. Preaching, teaching, meeting and visiting — not to mention ministering to the sick and dying, engaging the community and preparing for daily ministry tasks — often swallow all of a pastor’s time. And these are just professional tasks. What about family? Time to refresh and recharge? It’s no wonder that continuing education often falls off the radar for many pastors.

Every reason a pastor may have for not continuing his education could likewise be a reason for continuing education. The more we learn, the more efficiently we work. The more we receive God’s gifts in worship and grow spiritually, the more effectively we can share life with Christ.

I have been incredibly blessed by participating in continued education. For the first three years of my ministry, I received encouragement through the PALS program (Post Seminary Applied Learning and Support). Relationships that began in PALS continue to be a great asset to me and my ministry, putting me in touch with men from whom I can learn and whom I still trust today.

But that’s not all. For two years I participated in the Wabash Pastoral Leadership Program funded by the Lilly Endowment. As one of 16 Indiana pastors chosen for Cohort III, I was offered Sabbath and given the opportunity to learn from world-renowned leaders from a variety of fields. I sat at the feet of Archbishop Desmond Tutu in South Africa and learned conflict resolution from those who helped liberate South Africa from apartheid. I learned of environmental consciousness from Joel Salatin, a Christian, libertarian, environmentalist, author and lecturer. I learned more from a favorite professor, the Rev. Dr. Detlev Schulz, who spoke about his experience growing up as the son of a white pastor who became bishop of the black Lutheran Church in South Africa. I did not seek these opportunities for myself; they sought me. As a result, I’ve learned much and the network of peers I’ve encountered are and will be among the greatest assets I have.

Because of the blessings I’ve received through my own continued education, I encourage my fellow church workers to continue learning. This endeavor may take many shapes and could happen in the office, at an institution of higher learning or around a table with a cup of coffee. Encourage your pastors, teachers, DCEs or colleagues in ministry to invest in their own education. Encourage your church leadership and school board to do so as well.

We will be better served as a district and Synod when those who are vested are also invested in continued education. “Where there is no guidance, a people falls, but in an abundance of counselors there is safety” (Prov. 11:14). May we, as the people of God, heed His counsel by promoting, seeking and encouraging each other in pursuing the blessing of wisdom for our service in the Lord’s kingdom.

INSTALLATIONS

Ossian

Fort Wayne

The Rev. Seth Korte was installed as new pastor of Praise Lutheran Church on July 10. Korte is a 2011 graduate of Concordia Seminary, St. Louis, and served as assistant pastor at Redeemer, Richmond, Va., before accepting the call to serve Praise. Participating in the service were from left, (front row) the Revs. James Cotter, Dr. R. Reed Lessing, Korte, Randy Glander; (back row) Warren Messmann, Douglas Punke (officiant) and George Lange.

Free courses for your fall stewardship emphasis “Christian stewardship is the free and joyous activity of the child of God and God’s family, the church, in managing all of life and life’s resources for God’s purposes.” That’s how stewardship is defined in The Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod.

In other words, Christian stewards are children of God who realize their role in life as partners, trustees, managers, caretakers or temporary custodians of gifts that belong to God. The Christian steward receives God’s precious gifts gratefully, manages God’s precious gifts carefully and responsibly, shares God’s precious gifts with others generously and returns God’s precious gifts joyfully with increase.

With that in mind, the Indiana District is providing for its congregations two user-friendly stewardship resources free of charge on its website. Both resources are three-week programs. With no copyright restrictions, “The Joy of Generosity” and “Bearing Fruit for Jesus” are available now. These Scripture-based, grace-centered materials are written by LCMS pastors and lay people and include worship aids, PowerPoint slides, sermons, newsletter articles, flyers, congregational letters, daily devotions, bulletin notices, childrens’ messages, Bible studies, commitment forms and more.

To access the material, go to in.lcms.org and click on the Stewardship picture. When the page appears, click on “New Stewardship Programs Available” and you will have access to the two resources at no cost to you or your congregation. If you desire a hard copy of either program (for less than $100), contact Ron Bleke at the district office, 800-837-1145.

Jesus said, “Behold, I have come to do your Will, O God” (Heb. 10:7a). So just as Jesus came to do His Father’s will, we are also called to do His will. “Do not merely listen to the Word, and so deceive yourselves. Do what it says” (James 1:22). This material will help you in doing what God commands.

Indiana District members honored by Concordia Theological Seminary, Fort Wayne

On Friday, May 20, the Concordia Theological Seminary community celebrated the close of the 170th academic year with Baccalaureate and Commencement exercises.

This year, in addition to the Master of Arts, Master of Divinity, Master of Sacred Theology, Doctor of Ministry and Doctor of Philosophy degrees, several special honors were conferred:

Doctor of Laws Honoris Causa

- Barbara Kroemer
- Wayne Kroemer

Wayne and Barbara Kroemer of Zionsville both have roots in Fort Wayne. Wayne was born there and was baptized at Redeemer Lutheran Church. Barbara was born in Minnesota but moved to Fort Wayne as a child. All four of their children were baptized at Holy Cross Lutheran Church. In 1997, the Kroemers became members of Advent Lutheran Church, Zionsville, where they have been very blessed and continue to be a blessing to others.

Since 1996, the Kroemers have been regular visitors and great friends of CTSFW. Their appreciation for faithful pastors who teach and preach Christ with clarity and conviction has led them to support the mission of CTSFW generously, including a leading gift for the construction and renovation of the long-needed library complex, now named the Wayne and Barbara Kroemer Library.

“Throughout our 170-year history, we have been blessed with dedicated students, a first-class faculty and faithful donors who support us so selflessly,” CTSFW President wRev. Dr. Lawrence R. Rast Jr. said. “We pray for God’s continued guidance as we serve together to prepare the finest pastors and deaconesses to serve His people throughout the world.”

Stoppenhagen (who served as proctor), Paul and Broderhausen attended Christ Academy this summer.

CAHS offers opportunities to explore the pastoral ministry

Each summer, Concordia Theological Seminary hosts Christ Academy High School (CAHS) for young men who are interested in learning more about their church and the vocation of pastor.

During the two-week conference, high school youth participate in classes, worship, fellowship with peers — and lots of fun.

More information can be found at ctsfiw.edu/ChristAcademy.
